

Mrs. Kendrick Asks $30,000 For Lost Mate

Suit Based on Alleged Offer of Mrs. Wakefield to Pay Wife $100 Month for Giving Up Husband

Divorce Also Requested

Petition Says Artist's Love Was Won at Spreckels Widow's Summer Camp

OAKLAND, Calif., Aug. 26.—Suit for $30,000 damages against Mrs. Edith Huntington Wakefield, divorced wife of the late John D. Spreckels Jr., for the alleged alienation of the affections of her husband, Rodney Kendrick, newspaper artist, was filed by Mrs. Nell Kendrick here today. Mrs. Kendrick also filed suit for divorce, alleging misconduct. She asked $100 a month alimony.

The suits were the outcome of incidents in the Wakefield home at Sausalito and elsewhere, wherein Mrs. Wakefield was alleged to have urged Mrs. Kendrick to divorce her husband on the understanding that she and her fourteen-month-old daughter, June, would be well provided for.

Married in Elizabeth, N. J.

The alleged relations between Kendrick and Mrs. Wakefield began July 4, 1922, and continued to August 20, according to the divorce complaint. The Kendricks were married in Elizabeth, N. J., March 3, 1919, and separated July 15, 1922, the complaint said.

Mrs. Wakefield "became infatuated" with Kendrick in March of this year, and sought by "arts, artifices and other means" to win him, according to the alienation complaint. On March 15 the plaintiff went to camp in Stockton, Calif., and remained there till August 1, "during which time the defendant lavished her affection on Kendrick," the complaint continues. "In June the defendant persuaded the plaintiff's husband to leave his home in Oakland and go to her home in Sausalito, and thereafter he ceased to be interested in condition of plaintiff," Mrs. Kendrick's complaint adds.

Recites $100 Monthly Offer

When she returned from the hospital she found her husband with Mrs. Wakefield, according to Mrs. Kendrick. Mrs. Wakefield, the complaint avers, made the proposition that she should obtain a divorce from Kendrick and

Weinstock Returns Praising Our Prisons After Seeing Foreign

Says Whipping Is Still Used Abroad; General Harbord Is Back for Probe of Indian Conditions

Leon C. Weinstock, State Commissioner of Prisons, who went abroad several months ago to observe the operation of British and continental prisons, returned yesterday on the Cunard liner Caronia, convinced that New York has little to learn from foreign institutions.

"Our prisons are far ahead of the foreign institutions," he said. "I was courteously received everywhere, but saw little that we could use here to advantage. Flogging and the whipping post are still in operation abroad and there is little or nothing done to provide industrial employment for prisoners. Over there a prisoner is just a prisoner who must serve his term. Folk interested in prisons expressed surprise when I told them of our parole system and that only 12 per cent of prisoners under our system ever returned to prison."

Another traveler was Dr. Joseph Rosen, of Croton-on-Hudson, who had spent eleven months in the Ukraine teaching Russians how to raise and eat Indian corn.

The steamship America, of the U. S. Lines, arrived yesterday from Bremen, Charbourg and Southampton, had among her passengers Major General James S. Harbord, U. S. A., who recently spent two months in India investigating alleged atrocities. He said his report would be filed in Washington and was confidential.

Motorist Is Accused of Killing Man When Drunk

Wilson R. Smith, of Bayport, Wealthy Manufacturer, Is Held at Sayville

After Francis L. Hoag, of Sayville, had sworn in an affidavit that Wilson R. Smith, a wealthy resident of Bayport, L. I., was driving his automobile while intoxicated, Coroner Moore, of Suffolk County, took Smith before Justice of the Peace Daniel White at Sayville yesterday and asked the justice to hold Smith in connection with the death on Friday night of Frank Halleck, sixty-five years old, a gardener, who lived with his wife and three children on Macon Street, Sayville.

The Justice of the Peace ordered Smith's attorney to assume responsibility for his client's presence on Monday, when Coroner Moore will hold an inquest into Halleck's death, and the District Attorney's office will begin an investigation.

Halleck was riding his bicycle on the South Road, near Sayville, on Friday, when Smith's speedster automobile, with Smith at the wheel, ran him down, according to the Coroner.

Police Scent Kidnaping. Find Girl, 5, Is Neighbor

Bayonne Mother Comes From "Around the Corner" to Get Strayed Child

Policeman Donlin stood on the steps of Bayonne Police Headquarters yesterday when he spied a five-year-old girl wandering aimlessly on the opposite side of the street. He walked over to her, and after questioning her decided that she had either been kidnapped and abandoned or was lost. He took her into the station house. Here the police learned she was Margie Axton, five years old, but she couldn't tell where she lived.

"Do you come from away off somewhere?" asked one of the policemen. "Yop," answered Margie. "Yop," asked another, who believed she had been kidnapped. "Yop," replied Margie. The police hurriedly sent out a description of the girl to nearby New Jersey towns, describing her as "five years old, with brown bobbed hair and large brown eyes." For two hours they tried to solve the mystery of the child's disappearance. Then the phone rang and a woman's voice said she was the child's mother and would hurry right over to the police station. When she arrived she said she was Mrs. James Axton. The police tried to explain that her little girl had been kidnapped or something. "Kidnaped?" ejaculated the mother. "Why, heavens, we only live right around the corner here, three doors away from the station house."

Broker Ends Life by Shot

Ludwig Stern Found Dying in Hotel Room

Ludwig Stern, a well-dressed broker, fifty-three years old, whose home is at Rye, N. Y., yesterday shot and killed himself in the room at the Pennsylvania Hotel that he has been occupying for the last three days.

Although the shot was not heard, a chambermaid entered the room immediately afterward. Stern was still alive, though unconscious. He died before the house physician could reach his room.

No motive for the suicide was apparent, but the police believe the explanation is contained in a sealed envelope addressed to two men in the Wall Street district. Stern had written across its face asking that the letter be delivered unopened, and it will be turned over to the men addressed by the medical examiner's office. No other papers were found.
